“Dad, we did not see eye to eye on a lot of things. You and I were both stubborn, hard-headed and hot-headed. In the end, you thought you had done nothing right. I kept telling you that you did everything right. I hope you know now. I love you and will one day give you not one kiss but two because Italians always get two kisses.

“There is nothing I can really say to show how much my Pap Pap meant to me. Both he and my grandmother were two people in my life that I am so blessed to have had. They were two people who I always felt so loved by. I can only pray that he knew that no matter what, I loved him very much.
