“ I don't have very many memories of Harvey but the ones I do have of him are good funny ones. Having sleep overs or just chilling at the trailer with Lib & Angie the many diff stories of hunting, home remedies, & the do you know if you use or do this for this or that's 🙄🙄 it's bn over 20yrs since I have seen or talked to him but always would & will continue to laugh & remember some of his advice on how tos & what's needed when certain things came around or happened. RIP Harvey prayers from my family 😭

It was a pleasure knowing Harvey, I remember that van he had, I tried to buy that thing off of him, but he wouldn't budge. You'll be missed buddy, rest in peace.

“ My dad had the biggest heart that I ever know. He opened his home (The Hotel Shipp) is what I called it to anyone that needed a place to live. He never met a stranger everyone was a friend. My family would do without to help someone in need. My parents don't have much of anything so that just goes to show what type of heart he had. He had a tough exterior and would fight to his death to make sure that his family and friends wasn't harmed. He was than just a pappy he was second dad to all of his grandchildren and great grandchildren. He told the best stories I loved his stories when I could actually hear them lol he spoke in low tone so it wasn't and easy to hear. I love you daddy it will never be the same without barely hearing your stories, wondering who's checked into Motel Shipp now, and watching torture everyone is the room. Your mini in daughter form forever and always.
