He was reunited with his beloved wife of 31 years, Martha Smith Johnson, who passed away July 19, 2001. “ Dad thought so highly of all of you. I miss him so much. It's been 10 years and at times it's still so hard to believe he isn't here with us anymore. It brought joy to my heart Re-reading your Comments today. Thank you all again.

“ I am still processing the news of Lawrence's death about which I learned on my last visit to Morgantown in early May. All this time, I've been trying to write an account of our friendship and connection over the years and time and again am halted by what seems to be my disbelief that he is gone from this earth so that to write an eulogy or even deep appreciation of his life seems unreal. Please know that I hope whatever I write and send you--his loving family--is so heartfelt because he was truly loved by the Adams family. Please look for my letter to you in the near future. In grief and comopassion, Gail and Tim Adams

“ What a blessing it must have been to have a father like Lawrence! As with many, I came to know him through his work. One day he and I were talking and I told him someone had just spoken his name to me that very day. He said "I hope it was something good." I told him indeed it was, in fact I had never heard anyone speak anything but praise for him. A very nice man--a man who his family should be very proud of. May he rest in peace.
