“ Rock, where do I begin...from meeting you on a nursing visit to waking up everyday with you in my life...We truly were a team. I miss your sarcastic but funny comments, your crank dances in the kitchen, your "mississippi" answers to jeopardy, your crazy fun loving ways...2 months without you seems like its been a lifetime without you. Rock what am I gonna do for the rest of my time without you. You kept me on my toes, you were a good husband, a good man, and as you always said...being your best friend first was what you loved. There are no amount of words to describe my loss of you, you were one of a kind, my husband, my best friend. I miss and will always remember our love we had. I love you Rock and I miss you so much, my heart is broken without you here. ~your wife, Anita~

“My condolences to his family and friends. Though I was a year behind Rock in school, I met him and remember him as always pleasant to be around, and someone who really enjoyed his life. It's amazes me that there were a lot of people in my own graduating class that I did not know, but yet he stood out? I believe that says a lot about his character. R.I.P. Rock, prayers for all those close to you. Larry C.”

“Rock. This is the hardest thing I've ever had to do. Is to say goodbye to you. My heart is broken and will never heal. We have been the best of friends throughout this journey of life. I cherish the fact that you allowed me into your family. Ed & Vera were mother and father to me. Both would give me parental advice, especially Vera. A few times I'd stop down at the house to see if you're around. If you were not, I set at the kitchen table, telling Vera stupid stuff that made her laugh. She had a great laugh then say Oh Kevin! Oh Kevin! I miss them. Your brothers, sisters and their spouses are all exceptional people along with your nieces and nephews. I just want everyone to know I share this heavy loss with you.

Anita, he loved you greatly. I know this because he told me. You two were a team. I'm sorry.

Please excuse any grammatical errors I've written for I have something in my eyes. I love you Rock E

*Well Rock, it's been a year and 9 months without you. When I look at your pictures or have thoughts of you I bust out in tears. I don't ever think time will be any easier without you. I just wish you and I had more time. More time to grow together, to look back at the crazy things we use to do. I feel so alone without you. I talk to you at night in hopes that you are near me. I hear your favorite song on the radio I just smile and think you must be near me. I'm so sorry that I couldn't help you, I'm sorry i was able to answer that last call, I'm sorry I failed you. I'm sorry the doctors failed you. Life is never going to be the same without you. What I would do to see you act a fool when those songs came on or to hear you say you love me. The I love you honey was the last thing you said to me that morning and as I watch our video of the burrito challenge I listen to your voice, I am an emotional mess since you left. I hope Heaven is everything you had hoped it would be. I love and miss you immensely. You were my best friend, my Rock, my joy in life. I may have grumbled over some of your crazy stuff you would do but now my heart is empty. I have nobody to make me laugh or smile the way you did. I miss and love you so much!
Rest easy my love, until I see you again 💔*
