“ Terry saved Marlboro packs until he had enough points to purchase a blow up canoe. He and Rick put it in George's creek when the water was high. They floated downstream until they capsized on a large rock. It ripped a hole in the canoe so they pulled it with a rope. The creek was freezing and they were both soaked when they called me to come and pick them up. They both said that it was an adventurous day. We miss you Terry.

“ I am so sorry to hear this. Terry was a great guy and a wonderful lifetime friend. He and Rick hung drywall together for over ten years. He was like an uncle to our children as they were growing up. They absolutely loved him! I will always hear his laughter in my memory. You will be missed Terry!
